Fix Me

Jake Banfield

I don't think you can fix me

I wake up and I miss you and I want you back
Wish the times that we had were happy in this home
I can't even say this is not who I am
Should've waved that white flag
Walked away from the war

I wish I could tell you I'll change
Wish I could take back the pain
And tell you it won't stay the same but I can't lie
I hate making you cry
You should leave, stay
You don't gotta carry my weight, pain
Should've let me go that day
I'm an old broke down soul, runaway you won't miss me
I don't think you can fix me

We get lost in the moment, forget about the past
When we cry 'til we laugh and forget for a while
I was so damn close but we're on two different tracks
No way not to crash if we keep adding miles

I wish I could tell you I'll change
Wish I could take back the pain
And tell you it won't stay the same but I can't lie
I hate making you cry
You should leave, stay
You don't gotta carry my weight, pain
Should've let me go that day
I'm an old broke down soul, runaway you won't miss me
I don't think you can fix me

Leave, stay
You don't gotta carry my weight, pain
You should've let me go that day
Should've let me go that day
Should've let me go that

I wish I could tell you I'll change
Wish I could take back the pain
And tell you it won't stay the same but I can't lie
I hate making you cry
You should leave, stay
You don't gotta carry my weight, pain
Should've let me go that day
I'm an old broke down soul, runaway you won't miss me
I don't think you can fix me
You can fix me
