

Still Feels The Same

Jake Banfield

I turned on our old station
Then your favorite song came on
Sang a couple verses
Then I turned the stereo off

Guess by now I thought it'd finally gone away
Still can't seem to let go of the yesterdays
Me living without you
It's so wrong

It still feels the same
Hearing your name
You put out the fire
But I still feel the flames
I want it to change
But maybe I don't
Ever wanna find my way
Out of the smoke

In my mind it isn't real
Tell me why time isn't healing the pain
It still feels the same

I don't go to the same spots
Anywhere that you might be
I put myself together
But I'm always incomplete

You'd think by now I wouldn't have to miss it
Everything around me is so different

But still feels the same
Hearing your name
You put out the fire
But I still feel the flames
I want it to change
But maybe I don't
Ever wanna find my way
Out of the smoke

In my mind it isn't real
Tell me why time isn't healing the pain
It still feels the same

No matter what I do
My heart always moves
Right back to you

Still feels the same
Still feels the same
Still feels the same
It still feels the same

In my mind it isn't real
Tell me why time isn't healing the pain
Oh no, it still feels the same
