

Culdesac

Jake Miller

Yeah, 2011 in my Nissan Altima
Whipping through the Florida rain
Pulling over, waiting for the storm to fade
Looking back, man those were the days
16 helping Pops put up shutters for the hurricanes
Back before I started making art
I was bagging groceries and pushing carts
Waiting for my life to start
But little did I know it already began
It was just me and the fam
Yeah they made me who I am

Life just keeps on changing, time is moving so fast (Movin' so fast)
We just wind up chasing something we already had (Already had)
Overcomplicating what should be simple math
I had everything I needed
I was just too young to see it
Yeah

'Cause everything I have goes back (goes back)
It goes back (goes back)
To that culdesac
Embedded in the way that I live
The love that I give
It's all thanks to that
And we know deep down at the core of us
That all we ever needed was the 4 of us
Yeah everything I have goes back (goes back)
It goes back to that house on that culdesac

Yeah, Now I'm out in LA
My sisters up in New York
We try to Facetime when we're not too busy with work
It seems like yesterday we were selling lemonade
Now we're a long, long way from the Everglades
And the group chats still going strong
Family gets the first listen to every song
I think they're biased though
They say I never miss
I know my momma's going to cry when I send her this

Life just keeps on changing, time is moving so fast (Movin' so fast)
We just wind up chasing something we already had (Already had)
Overcomplicating what should be simple math
I had everything I needed
I was just too young to see it
Yeah

'Cause everything I have goes back (goes back)
It goes back (goes back)
To that culdesac
Embedded in the way that I live
The love that I give
It's all thanks to that
And we know deep down at the core of us
That all we ever needed was the 4 of us
Yeah everything I have goes back (goes back)

It goes back to that house on that culdesac