

Be Brave, Be Different

Jamala

Be brave, be different
Follow your own heart
Be brave, be different
Be true to who you are
Like a mother bringing up her child
Like a father providing for his blood
Like the sun whose light gives life to all

In a world where we are torn apart
People tear us down with a simple word
Be true to you in everything
That you do, that you say, that you wanna be
And when days are hard and you can't breathe rise up
Don't let them hold you down
Remember just follow your heart
Be true to who you are

Be brave, be different
Follow your own heart
Be brave, be different
Be true to who you are...

Be brave, be different, your path you can choose
Be brave, be different for those here before you
Like a mother bringing up her child
Like a father providing for his blood
Like the sun whose light gives life to all

In a world where we are torn apart
People tear us down with a simple word
Be true to you in everything
That you do, that you say, that you wanna be
And when days are hard and you can't breathe rise up
Don't let them hold you down
Remember just follow your heart
Be true to who you are
