

Drifting Apart

Jamala

You and I have this pointless fight
I never thought we will drift apart
Time has changed and so have we but Still you think we could save our feelings?

You said you love me
You said you love me a thousand times
You said you love me
You said you love me a thousand times
You said you love me
You said you love me a thousand times
But your love isn't strong enough

Your love isn't strong enough
Your love isn't strong enough
Your love isn't strong enough
Your love isn't strong enough
Your love isn't strong enough
Your love isn't strong enough

The saddest thing is we don't know each other now
The way we did before drifting apart
Your tender touch
My doubts
You care about me
Which I'll miss
This is the last chance to save our love

You said you love me
You said you love me a thousand times
You said you love me
You said you love me a thousand times
You said you love me
You said you love me a thousand times
But your love isn't strong enough