

Fade

James Arthur

One day, one day,
One day, it all will fade
One day, one day,
One day, it all will fade
Empty moments, sleepless nights
Think about you every night
Wondering what went wrong
What we had once seemed so right
But just as quick you're out of sight
You talk to me with words like moving on

Did it seem so simple to you?
Was I just another thing for you to do?
Did you ever mean the things you said?
Or was I just another notch on your bed?

I thought you needed me too
I thought your feelings were true
I thought your head was in my space
But now you've proven me wrong
But I will rise and be strong
And one day soon this pain will fade

One day, one day,
One day, it all will fade
I just wanted things to be so good
A simple life just simple love
Something hard to find these days
But you thought life owes you more than this
With your magazines and shopping trips
One day your beauty will fade

Did it seem so simple to you?
Was I just another thing for you to do?
Did you ever mean the things you said?
Was I just another notch on your bed?

I thought you needed me too
I thought your feelings were true
I thought your head was in my space
But now you've proven me wrong
But I will rise and be strong
And one day soon this pain will fade

I thought you needed me too
I thought your feelings were true
I thought your head was in my space
But now you've proven me wrong
And I will rise and be strong
And one day soon this pain will fade

One day, one day,
One day, it all will fade
