

Hold On

James Fortune & FIYA

I know you're praying for a change
To see a sunny day
Nothing good has come your way for so long
You need someone to understand this place your heart is in
You just want to dream again and believe

Your skies may look dim and grey
But know your breakthrough's not far away

So hold on
You are too close to give up now
You have so much to live for Remember what you prayed for
Hold on, please don't let go in this season
Know that flowers bloom when rain falls
You just hold on

You ask when will this go away
Know that God can feel your pain
Believe He'll never fall short of His word
Sometimes we forget that He holds us His hands
But I'm reminding you don't give up

I've been where you are
Almost at the breaking point in my life
I know you say it's impossible
But you've got to hang on cause it's just about over

All of your dreams
All of your desires are coming to pass
So I'm telling you don't lose your faith
Hold on to His word don't give up

Never let go [x4]
You are too close now
