Your cold voice, locks me up Like a prison cell, desolate And devoid of light

One day I will break free Like a convict would Scale a wall in the dead of night That's right

Cause I've been trying to forget you
Anyway, anyhow
I never wanted some amnesia more than I do now
So I can erease, the memories of
A love that was never true
So I could forget you

You're a scene, in my head That's been on repeat I need a way to turn it off

One day I'll close my eyes
And you won't be there because
I will find a way to make it stop

Cause I've been trying to forget you
Anyway, anyhow
I never wanted some amnesia more than I do now
So I can erease, the memories of
A love that was never true
So I could forget you

Nothing will be like it was before I'm not gonmna need you anymore Done going through the revolving door The revolving door

Cause I've been trying to forget you
Anyway, anyhow
I never wanted some amnesia more than I do now
So I can erease, the memories of
A love that was never true
So I could forget you

Cause I've been trying to forget you
Anyway, anyhow
I never wanted some amnesia more than I do now
So I can erease, the memories of
A love that was never true
So I could forget you