

Something's Wrong

James Marriott

I've never been better, except when I lie
A brand new addiction to not asking why
As hard as it's getting, I'm forgetting to try
But who could make sense of you and I?

Do I have what you don't?
Could you get me alone?
I'm whatever you want and I'm nothing at all
Hoping you'll tell me but scared that you might
Praying you'll take this slowly

You're unforgettable, but your name has slipped my mind
Make me remember this time

If you want me, give me something to cry about
You could hurt me, we could have it out 'til it's early
And if you need to know that we're through
Give me all your love and we're done

Does it feel like something's wrong?
Does it feel like something's off?
Does it feel like something's wrong?
Does it feel like something's

Off for a moment back in my stride?
You used to be pretty, I used to be nice
She says I look better with her at my side
But now her face is in front of mine
And she's doing the most, I should give up the ghost
But I couldn't speak with her hand on my throat
I move my foot back, but she's stepping in time
Can you not make this easy?

You're undeniable until you're out of sight
She'll probably end it tonight

If you want me, give me something to cry about
You could hurt me, we could have it out 'til it's early
And if you need to know that we're through
Give me all your love and we're done

Does it feel like something's wrong?
Does it feel like something's off?
Does it feel like something's wrong?
Does it feel like something's off?

Does it feel like something's wrong?
Does it feel like something's off?
Does it feel like something's wrong?
Does it feel like something's off?

Does it feel like something's wrong?
Does it feel like something's off?
Does it feel like something's wrong?
Does it feel like something's off?

Does it feel like something's wrong?

Does it feel like something's off?
Does it feel like something's wrong?
Does it feel like something?
