

Why Don't You Kill Me?

James Marriott

I'm not here to change your mind
I'm not here to spend the night
If you think that now's the time
Is it over? Why don't you kill me?

For a moment I started to miss you
When you came back I felt a reprieve
I couldn't decide to leave your side if it killed me
For a moment I'm coming to meet you
In the next one you're trying to leave
I couldn't decide to leave your side if it killed me
So why don't you kill me?

No one takes my hand and twists it like you do
You make me take it back. You make me beg for you
And the sounds I never made still echo from the past
Tell you that it hurts in your love

For a moment I started to miss you
When you came back I felt a reprieve
I couldn't decide to leave your side if it killed me
For a moment I'm coming to meet you
In the next one you're trying to leave
I couldn't decide to leave your side if it killed me
So why don't you kill me?

(I couldn't decide to leave your side)
(I couldn't decide to leave your side)
I couldn't decide to leave your side if it killed me
(I couldn't decide to leave your side)
(I couldn't decide to leave your side)
I couldn't decide to leave your side if it killed me

No matter what you say
No matter what you do
I'll find a better day if I'm alone with you
