

Fight Another Day

James Morrison

I know sometimes you feel like you can't see the sun
And all the clouds follow you
Don't be so hard on yourself 'cause better times will come
You're strong enough to make it through

I see the storm behind your eyes, you've got to let it go

'Cause sometimes it hurts
We cry till we break
God only knows what's waiting for us tomorrow
And those hard days will come
That we just can't escape
But if I hold on to you, and you hold on to me
We'll live to fight another day

You say you wanna run away, just leave this all behind
Hoping it could all just disappear
You can't run from hurricanes, no matter how hard you try
So just stay with me right here

I see the storm behind your eyes, you've got to let it go

'Cause sometimes it hurts
We cry till we break
God only knows what's waiting for us tomorrow, tomorrow
And those hard days will come
We just can't escape
But if I hold on to you, and you hold on to me
We'll live to fight another day

There's no point in running from all the trouble
You gotta face it standing strong
'Cause through pain is where the joy will follow
Don't be afraid, just carry on

'Cause sometimes it hurts
We cry till we break
God only knows what's waiting for us tomorrow, tomorrow
Those hard days will come
We just can't escape
But if I hold on to you, and you hold on to me
We'll live to fight another day

We'll live to fight another day

Live to fight, live to fight
Live to fight another day, another day
We'll live to fight another day

Fight another day
