Headlights

James Vincent McMorrow

I adore you
Everyone else can start to leave
Fall apart like they're on the brink
I adore you

Set on fire
Let it burn down in front of us
Flare just like chemicals
Set on fire

Has the weight of my love
Has the weight of my love been killing you?
I know you felt it but never woulda said it
Till you're screaming how it isn't true

Who was there for you?
Laying in the dark, laying in the dark
As the headlights start to fade
And we can't slack or run away
What's left for you?
Keep an open mind, keep an open mind
As the headlights start to fade
And I'm gonna be here for you, waiting

Yeah, yeah
Yeah, yeah

Do it for me
Hold my sin like it's criminal
Lock it down like a prisoner
Do it for me

Say the number
I could be right, lately I been wrong
I could be weak, maybe never strong
Say the number

There's a weight of your love (Weight to your love)
There's a weight of your love but you're killing me
I know I felt it but never woulda said it
Till I'm screaming how I still believe

Who was there for you?
Laying in the dark, laying in the dark
As the headlights start to fade
And we can't slack or run away
What's left for you?
Keep an open mind, keep an open mind
As the headlights start to fade
And I'm gonna be here for you, waiting

Yeah, yeah
Yeah, yeah
As the headlights start to fade
Yeah, yeah

When the headlights are fading

Don't you wanna be alone with me?
I'm infected but you wonder if my heart's still beating
Got a feeling that it's on your mind

Who was there for you? (For you)
Laying in the dark, laying in the dark (Laying in the darkness)
As the headlights start to fade (Start to fade, start to fade)
And we can't slack or run away (Can't slack or run away)
What's left for you? (For you)
Keep an open mind, keep an open mind (Keep an open mind, yeah)
As the headlights start to fade (Headlights start to fade)
And I'm gonna be here for you, waiting (Gonna be here for you, waiting)
