

Heavy Heart

Jamestown Revival

I can feel the grass bend under my feet. I can taste the air and I swear it was sweet. Gonna feel it blowing in the back of my mind. Forty-five, take me back to Walker County line.

Whoa, I should have known. (2x)

Cause I've got a, a heavy heart and a heavy mind. I sing a song for all I've gone and left behind. (2x)

It's weighing on me. (2x)

I want to get down, feel the dirt in my hands. Born handed being worn out for working the leg. I hear the crack from the fire and I know I'm alive. Fight on my back, looking up at a pinhole sky.

Whoa, I should have known.

Cause I've got a, a heavy heart and a heavy mind. I sing a song for all I've gone and left behind.

It's weighing on me.

Cause I've got a, a heavy heart and a heavy mind. I sing a song for all I've gone and left behind

It's weighing on me.
