

Petals

Jamie Lawson

I will hold your clothes
Watch you as you swim
Naked under those
Petals you call skin

I will hold your clothes
Watch you from the shore
Watch you breathing water and know that
No one loves you more

I will hold your clothes
As you dive underneath
Understand what God can do
When he brings to my life, believe

I will hold your clothes
Watch you as you swim
Naked under those
Petals you call skin

I will hold your clothes
Watch you from the shore
Watch you breathing water and know that
No one loves you more

Except maybe God, and some besides
Old friends that he trusts
As they talk about creation days
They're smiling down on us

Jesus and Iscariot
They hold hands with pride
I just hold your clothes and watch you swim
And I smile and sigh

I will hold your clothes
Watch you as you swim
Naked under those
Petals you call skin

You call skin
