

Running Now

Jamie McDell

So you think I'm not enough to speak cause I haven't a suit or a relevant degree
Seems that I misunderstood those eyes
Am I looking at a hero or a Tuesday whiskey lie?
Well, I'm picking lie
Blue lie

So you think I overstepped a mark but I didn't cause the car crash
You were driving your own car
Could it be a self-destruction game?
Well, you're looking at a woman who doesn't want to play
Or change her mind
Ooh, mind

Well, I hear the sound of your twisted words breaking me down
I get a flashback of runaway bride
I feel the cold of a little girl screaming
Get out
Why I couldn't run then but I'm running now

What about the many years to be?
Can I even get a glimpse of any sign you cared for me?
I guess there's no use in chasing past
I should gather up my memories, light a fire in the trash
And say goodbye
Goodbye

Well, I hear the sound of your twisted words breaking me down
I get a flashback of runaway bride
I feel the cold of a little girl screaming
Get out
Why I couldn't run then but I'm running now

So you think I'm not enough to speak cause I haven't a suit or
a relevant degree

Well, I hear the sound of your twisted words breaking me down
I get a flashback to runaway bride
I feel the cold of a little girl screaming
Get out
Why I couldn't run then
Well, I'm running now

I'm running now
I'm running now