

The Black Arrow (The Hobbit Song)

Jamie McDell

The dark grows on the river
Our friends stay on the brighter side
The true friends can only shiver
In times so cold the match can't light

And flames won't catch me now,
I'm half way down
I'm already falling!
And there's just one way out
Here and now the black arrow's calling!

My eyes, they hold the only weakness
I watch and wait for signs to go
My breath grows heavier, I'm sleepless
I know the path my fathers chose

And flames won't catch me now,
I'm half way down
I'm already falling!
And there's just one way out
Here and now the black arrow's calling!

My hands stay strong
I brave the distance
I know I only have one chance

And flames won't catch me now,
I'm half way down
I'm already falling!
And there's just one way out
Here and now the black arrow's calling!
