

Default Setting

Jamie Miller

My default setting is missing you and letting
Memories of us run circles in my head
I'd say it's safe betting, that tonight I'm up regretting
Everything I meant to say I left unsaid

Something about you
Is a part of me
I can't function, I can't breathe
Without you in my arms, I fall apart

The faster you move on, the more I'm frozen
The quicker that you heal, the more I'm broken
And every thought of you still cuts me open
'Cause never quite forgetting what we had
Yea, that's my default setting

So I'll be waiting
Reminiscing, recreating
All the things I used to do to make you laugh
Pretend you're taking time away
Just on vacation, couple days
And I tell myself you're coming back

Something about you
Is a part of me
I can't function, I can't breathe
Without you in my arms, I fall apart

The faster you move on, the more I'm frozen
The quicker that you heal, the more I'm broken
And every thought of you still cuts me open
'Cause never quite forgetting what we had
Yea, that's my default setting

Yea, that's my default setting
Yea, that's my default setting

I just want to let you know

The faster you move on, the more I'm frozen
The quicker that you heal, the more I'm broken
And every thought of you still cuts me open
'Cause never quite forgetting what we had

The faster you move on, the more I'm frozen
The quicker that you heal, the more I'm broken
And every thought of you still cuts me open
'Cause never quite forgetting what we had
Yea, that's my default setting

Yea, that's my default setting
Yea, that's my default setting