Separate Me

Jamie's Elsewhere

I'm running towards the setting sun
As it falls below the horizon line
Seeking answers to the questions
I have been afraid to ask

Is this all there really is?
Is this all there really is?
Come what may but I'm afraid
These words no longer comfort me

Separate me from everyone and everything
Separate me
Cut me off clean
I'm bursting at the seams
For something greater than what I am seeing
What I am seeing

For a moment in time
I am weightless and floating towards the ceiling
Is this where we intertwine?
I'm afraid this feeling is only me falling
Falling falling falling falling

Separate me from everyone and everything
Separate me
Cut me off clean
I'm bursting at the seams
For something greater than what I am seeing

Can't you see we're all stones in the water
Crushed and buried underneath the sediment?
And everything I do to climb out
Just pushes me further underneath
Underneath

Separate me from everyone and everything
Separate me
Cut me off clean
I'm bursting at the seams
For something greater than what I am seeing

Something greater than what I am hearing
Something
Something
Greater than this