

The Soil and the Seed

Jamie's Elsewhere

Like warmth in winter
Bring life to these bones again
Autumn left me splintered
Losing color to the wind

From the moment I open up my eyes
I can see, I can see, I can see the end
While you're floating with grace
Through space and time
Subtle like the seasons creeping in

Will you save me?
Is Spring ever coming back around again?
'Cause I've been freezing for far too long

Take me where the day hides
When it's my turn to fall asleep
Can we evade the sunshine
And just lie still beneath?

(In the soil with the seed
Is where I can breathe)

From the moment I open up my eyes
I can see, I can see, I can the end
While you're floating with grace
Through space and time
Subtle like the seasons creeping in

Will you save me?
Is Spring ever coming back around again?
'Cause I've been freezing for far too long

(In the soil with the seed
Is where I can breathe)

From the moment I open up my eyes
I can see, I can see, I can see the end
While you float with grace through space and time
Subtle like the seasons creeping in

Will you save me?
Is Spring ever coming back around again?
'Cause I've been freezing for far too long
