

I Never Want to Hurt Again Like This

Jamie Scott

Standing at your front porch
Two cars outside
I know that one of them is yours
Love just died

I never want to love again
I never want to hurt again like this
I never want to fall again
I never want to hurt again like this

Nothing as it was before
Wish I was blind
The shadows move across the floor
My blood runs dry

I never want to love again
I never want to hurt again like this
I'm never gonna fall again
I never want to hurt again like this

And I was so reckless
With the power you hold but none the less
You loved me into darkness
Picking up the pieces as you take the rest

Knocking on your back door
Holding my breathe
You're running down the corridor
Thank you friend

I never want to love again
I never want to hurt again like this
I'm never gonna fall again
I never want to hurt again like this
