

Cinema Screen

Janet Devlin

I've been laying wide awake
Watching every last mistake I've ever made
On a cinema screen in the back of my forehead
And I've been praying for a change
Hoping I could press play on a different day
But we are the scene I can never stop watching

And I've been trying to get everything you said out of my head
I've been trying to move but all I want to do is forget
And I'm dying to turn it off
I've been trying with all that I've got

And I know you're no good for me
And I know, I know I should be moving on
Moving on, from this Hollywood dream
On my cinema screen

I believed in all your lies
I've been crying through the night, you never loved me
So why can I still taste you between my teeth?
And I can feel you on my bones
And this pain just feels like home
Lights, camera action - I'm lying again

And I've been trying to get everything you said out of my head
I've been trying to move but all I want to do is forget
And I'm dying to turn it off
I've been trying with all that I've got

And I know you're no good for me
And I know, I know I should be moving on
Moving on, from this Hollywood dream
Before you ruin me

And although, although it kills me
I should go, but it's not so easy moving on
Moving on, from this Hollywood dream

And I've been shrinking again, over-thinking again
Pushing me round the bend again
Tip-toeing over the edge, trying my best to pretend
That I am not losing myself

And I know you're no good for me
And I know, I know I should be moving on
Moving on, from this Hollywood dream
Before you ruin me

And although, although it kills me
I should go, but it's not so easy moving on
Moving on, from this Hollywood dream
On my cinema screen
