

Hotel Linen

Jann Arden

A secret love a secret love a secret life oh

I called your house it rang twice
She sounds nice
Nothing like what I thought
Wish she was
You call my house
I know why
Guess I'll try to bite my tongue
Are your eyes green
Do you know
Know about me?

We'd always meet at the corner
Of Horby and Georgia and hold our breath
Crawl into the hotel linens
White and forgiving that's all we had
I can picture his face in the morning sun
How it poured in across our backs
White and forgiving, hotel linen

It's not your fault
Take my word
I know what your thinking now
How could this be
'Cause he love me
Me and no one else

We'd always meet at the corner
Of Horby and Georgia and hold our breath
Crawl into the hotel linens
White and forgiving that's all we had
I can picture his face in the morning sun
How it poured in across our backs
White and forgiving, hotel linen

A secret love a secret love a secret life oh
The hours feel like seconds nothing more
I'm waiting here forever
To see him walking through that door

We'd always meet at the corner
Of Horby and Georgia and hold our breath
Crawl into the hotel linens
White and forgiving that's all we had
I can picture his face in the morning sun
How it poured in across our backs
White and forgiving, hotel linen
White and forgiving, hotel linen

Oh, I'm waiting here for ever and ever
Oh, I'm waiting here for ever and ever
Oh, I'm waiting ever, for ever
For ever, ever, ever, ever, ever, ever, oh
