

A Gaslight Anthem

Japandroids

Darling, it's been a minute or so
Since you've been knocking at my door
Forgive me if I'm suspicious but it's rarely a social call
Not trying to sound vicious but are we even friends at all

Cause every single time it's the same
Just someone new that you're blaming
Don't you ever tire of these games
That you keep on playing

You say you haven't got a clue what I'm talking about
Well, it's a story I presume you keep on telling yourself
Yeah, but it's a lie you've told one too many times
Still you try to pull the wool over my eyes

You say you haven't got a clue what I'm talking about
Well, it's a story I presume you keep on telling yourself
It's a lie you've told one too many times
Still you try to pull the wool over my eyes