

Signals

Jared Evan

[Verse 1:]

You say all of the things I wanna say
But when you came, you didn't think the same, oh
These walls they're covered in flames, they're gonna burn down
If all the signals are changed, we'll never fade out

[Hook:]

Make clear, we're going somewhere
Don't wanna change, where we go from here

[Verse 2:]

When exactly does this become awkward?
Should I kiss you or should I be cautious?
I can't tell the difference between us
Are we hanging out or are we working out at the office?
Yeah, I guess I'll keep it professional
But, I'd rather have sex with you, of course
Remember when you said you wanted to make me dinner?
Well I'm still waiting on my first, course
And I don't even know how to approach the score
The smiley faces in your texts they make me think you're wet
You're blowing me kisses and we ain't even f*cking yet

I suppose only time knows what will happen next
The point where we connect, yes
Quit messing with my head, and just start messing with my head

[Hook:]

[Break/Skit:]

Listen girl, you are at the understanding point. Me and you've been kicking it for a while and shit and that shit's all cool, but you ain't even touched it yet like what the f*ck. I ain't trying to rush you or anything, but you know what I'm saying, a man got choices if you know what I mean. I'm just saying you need to step up your game. Stop playing all these motherf*cking games. and don't make me call you a bitch neither, cause there comes a point. When you gotta ask yourself, is you f*cking or what? Cause I ain't got motherf*cking time to waste

[Bridge:]

Signals, signals, signals x4