

Disappear

Jars of Clay

I watch you smile, you steal the show.
You take a bow, the curtain falls in front of you.
You're magical, on display.
I gaze into your eyes and, you turn to look the other way.

But I'd really love to know.
I'd really love to climb my way into your heart and see what I
could find.
I'd walk into your skin, swim through your veins.
See it from your eyes.
Cause I'd really love to try, yeah.

Standing still but in my mind trying to escape.
Looking for a place to hide.
It's not safe but I'm so near.
Invading every place you go to disappear.

I'd really love to know.
I'd really love to climb my way into your heart and see what I
could find.
I'd walk into your skin, swim through your veins.
See it from your eyes.
I'd really love to try.
I'd really love to know.
I'd really wanna to climb into your soul.
Walk into your skin, swim through your veins.
See it from your eyes.
I'd really love to try.
I'd really love to try.

I want to get inside the your you're hiding from.
I want to get inside the your you're hiding from.
I want to get inside the you that you are hiding from.