

Fix Me

Jasmine Thompson

Sweet dreams and promises
Too big to keep
Midnights and memories
That could have been
Don't say I've ruined this
Try to forget
All the true but foolish words
I should never have said

There's so much more that we could be
But oh I'll take whatever you can give me

Every time that I'm falling, falling
You're the arms that I reach
When my guards are unravelling, ravelling
You're the words that I need to fix me
To fix me

I'll keep it hidden now
Throw away the key
Won't let my guard down
Don't worry 'bout me
Midnight, I'm running home
It's for the best
Is this how swallows learn to fly
Falling out of their nest

There's so much more that we could be
But oh, I'll take whatever you can give me

Every time that I'm falling, falling

You're the arms that I reach
When my thoughts are unravelling, ravelling
You're the words that I need
If you don't feel the same, don't say anything
I don't want this to change
'Cause any time that I'm breaking, breaking
You're the one that I need to fix me
To fix me

Every time that I'm falling, falling
You're the arms that I reach
Every time that I'm breaking, breaking
You're the one that I need

Every time that I'm falling, falling
You're the arms that I reach
When my thoughts are unravelling, ravelling
You're the words that I need
If you don't feel the same, don't say anything
I don't want this to change
'Cause any time that I'm breaking, breaking
You're the one that I need to fix me
To fix me
To fix me
To fix me

To fix me