You wanna run before the sky starts to fall
You don't wanna wait though it might not at all
You say you want it so bad, then when it's been had
You say you just don't want it no more

You wanna live while you got the chance
You want a chase and a real romance
But now that I'm here, you tremble with fear and say
Is this what I want? Is that what I want?

And you talked about swimming upstream
Girl, I for one sure know what you mean
But I'll grow stronger each day, soon I'll know what to say
To make you see the light I have seen

Once I was the carriage, I was the seat
I was the shoes and the soles of your feet
I wish you knew I'm here to stay, won't be worn away
And I wish that the next time we meet, you'll say

You is you, I is I, and the interface is stable
You is you, I is I, and the interface is the interface
You is you, I is I, and the interface is stable
You is you, I is I, and the interface is the interface

Let's make a family
With family priorities
I need new shoes
These are worn through
