

Time

Jason Chen

I remember when I thought it was the end of the road
Standing at the crowded room but still all alone
It's kinda funny how the summer could be so cold and hopeless

And life goes on
And time heals all
I'll never look back again
It's easy each day
I'm turning the page
I'll never look back again
The memories fade
I'm turning the page
I'll never look back again

Through it all I realized it made me stronger
Like a faith in myself but no longer
And I'm not living in the past
There's nothing holding me back cause now I'm free
Free, free

And life goes on
And time heals all
I'll never look back again
It's easy each day
I'm turning the page
I'll never look back again
The memories fade
I'm turning the page
I'll never look back again

And life goes on
And time heals all
I'll never look back again
It's easy each day
I'm turning the page
I'll never look back again
The memories fade
I'm turning the page
