

Gainesville

Jason Eady

Well I set out walking a long time ago
I set out looking for the answers I set out looking for the sho w

You'd better believe I looked high and I looked low
But today I'm finally going home

When I get back to Gainesville I will sing a victory song
I have made a lot of turns as many right as wrong
Well I've had enough of this wandering life
So I'm going back to Gainesville ain't no changing my mind

Well, I can't count the miles I put underneath my feet
Every step I've taken has become a part of me
I've crawled across the desert and I swam into the sea
But today I'm finally going home

When I get back to Gainesville I will sing a victory song
I have made a lot of turns as many right as wrong
Well I've had enough of this wandering life
So I'm going back to Gainesville ain't no changing my mind

Well, I have found freedom and I have lost hope
And I have learned to question everything I think I know
I have seen salvation and I have sold my soul
But today I'm finally going home

When I get back to Gainesville I will sing a victory song
I have made a lot of turns as many right as wrong
Well I've had enough of this wandering life
So I'm going back to Gainesville ain't no changing my mind

I've had enough of this wandering life
So I'm going back to Gainesville and I mean it this time
