

Liars & Fools

Jason Eady

If I had to choose between liars and fools
I'd choose the fools everytime
'Cause liars they live in their own little world
While the fools lay it all on the line

And if I get burned, I wanna get burned by the fire
Not hiding from the ashes in the trees
I'd rather stand tall as the fool while the liar
Goes down, still on his knees

If I had to choose between liars and fools
I'd choose the fools everytime
'Cause liars they live in their own little world
While the fools lay it all on the line

Well I've seen it all from one of those sides
And I watched as it all came undone
She was a fool for believing my lies
And now I'm left with the damage I've done

So if I had to choose between liars and fools
I'd choose the fools everytime
'Cause liars they live in their own little world
While the fools lay it all on the line
Liars they live in their own little world
While the fools lay it all on the line
