

Where I've Been

Jason Eady

She said I haven't been thinkin' 'bout leavin' As much as I used to
In fact I haven't been thinkin' too much at all
And I sure ain't been thinkin' 'bout you

I've been stayin' out late Keepin' my head down Lookin' for a place to fall
Then I come home in the mornin'
It's early and too late to worry Rest my back against this wall

And she said you ain't been givin' me the kind of love I'm need in'
And you just ain't just been livin' like the man that I once kn
And so I've given up, and given in Takin' what I need every now and then
And if you ever decide that you ever wanna try again Well I'll be here in the mornin' just don't ask me where I've b een

She said I hope some day you'll see me the way that I used to s ee you
And honey I'll be around just won't be takin' your time
'Cause I do what I gotta do

This is not what I wanted
I rather be home
But a home takes more than me
So if you ever get tired or lonely Just remember I'm only as gone as you want me to be

in'
And you just ain't just been livin' like the man that I once kn
And so I've given up, and given in Takin' what I need every now and then
And if you ever decide that you ever wanna try again
Well I'll be here in the mornin' just don't ask me where I've b een
Yeah I'll be here in the mornin' just don't ask me where I've b een
