

Always Want More

Jason Reeves

All my father's pride
My crooked line
My way around the new moon

All my mother's soul
My word is gold
I've gave you all I had

But love better off left in the dark
Where no one's heart can find it
We are better off, are better off

Love is just a ship wreck anyway
We'll sink into a cold and lonely grave
We're set ourselves already for the shore

Flying like a love sick satellite
In opposite directions through the night
We'll cry until we collide again once more
We always want more

All my feather bones
Are heavy stones
Are anchors in my body

Breaking like thin ice
Like suicide
Whenever someone hurts me

Sex is better off done in the dark
Where no one eyes can find it
We are better blind, are better blind

Cuz love is just a ship wreck anyway
We'll sink into a cold and lonely grave
We're set ourselves already for the shore

Flying like a love sick satellite
In opposite directions through the night
We'll cry until we collide again once more
We always want more

We always want more
We always want more
Always want more

Love is just a ship wreck anyway
We'll sink into a cold and lonely grave
We're set ourselves already for the shore

Flying like a love sick satellite
In opposite directions through the night
We'll cry until we collide again once more
We always want more

We always want more
Mmm mmm

We always want more, ay

All my father's pride
My crooked line

All my mother's soul
My word is gold

We are better off
