

Honestly

Jason Reeves

I've been honest with you girl and I've been honest with myself

I am hiding from the world
I am trying not to yell
What the hell is going on
Why is everybody always dying
Some of them are much too young
Some have children in their arms still crying

Honestly
What do you want me to do
I've tried to find an answer
Honestly
Do we even have a clue
What we need to make it better

We are burying the earth underneath a billion tons of pavement
So what do you think it is worth?
Do you really wanna try to save it

Honestly
What do you want me to do
I've tried to find an answer
Honestly
Do we even have a clue
What we need to make it better

Do you really trust the government
Do you listen to their bullshit
Well I swear this world is going down
And the only lifeboats are spaceships
Spaceships

Honestly
What do you want me to do
I've tried to find an answer
Honestly
Do we even have a clue
What we need to make it better
