

How Many Hearts

Jason Reeves

Hurts just the same when you fall When you let it go Believing is easier Than being left alone

You're stranded in the sunlight Searching for a shadow I'm star ing
at a black and white world Outside the window

How many roads do you have to walk? How many lines do you have to cross? How many hearts do you break To find the one you want? How many hearts? How many hearts?

There's truth in lie If it tricks you to believe A promise is p oisonous
If it's one that you can't keep

The power in the pain As it stains like a memory I'm still lear ning
how to feel at all Since you left me

How many roads do you have walk? How many lines do you have to cross? How many hearts do you break To find the one you want?

How many homes do you leave behind? How many hills do you have to climb? How many hearts do you break To finally get it right?

And how many hearts? How many hearts? How many hearts?

How many roads do you have walk? How many lines do you have to cross? How many hearts do you break To find the one you want?

How many homes do you leave behind? How many hills do you have to climb? How many hearts do you break To finally get it right? How many hearts? How many hearts? How many hearts?

How many hearts? How many hearts? How many hearts? How many hearts?
