

In Between the Rain

Jason Reeves

So they danced in the pouring rain
Wearing smiles that showed no age
Just so amused in their childish ways
They danced 'til the light of day

They laughed at the lightening
Seeing colors they'd never seen
So wide awake in a shining dream
They forgot about everything

They felt like there was something magical stuck in between the rain
And their eyes were dripping with the kind of tears that held n o pain

They felt like there was something magical stuck in between the
rain
And their eyes were dripping with the kind of tears that held n o pain
