

The Moon and More

Javier Colon

Have you ever wanted to fly among the stars?
To see up close what we could only see from afar
Come on let's go your dreams are possible

We can fly far away from here
Defying gravity we'll soar beyond the atmosphere
We will see things we've never seen before
We'll open up a door to a new world and go explore
The moon and so much more

I remember dreaming that I could take flight
To chase forever into the heart of the night.
Above it all, the world's so small

We can fly far away from here
Defying gravity we'll soar beyond the atmosphere
We will see things we've never seen before
Open up a door to a new world and go explore
The moon there's so much...

More that we have yet to see
Much more to understand
But the time is here and now
After all we're just one speck of sand
In this universe of ours

We can fly far away from here
Defying gravity we'll soar beyond the atmosphere (yyyeah)
We can see things we've never seen before
We'll open up a door to a new world and go explore
The moon and so much more