

Milan, Madrid, Chicago, Paris

Jay-Jay Johanson

Milan, oh! madrid, chicago, paris
I searched and I searched again
I turned around to see if you were looking back
I saw your eyes and fell in love
I caught a glance of heaven but was thrown away
So now my quest is search the world for you
Milan, oh! madrid, chicago, paris
I search all over the world for you
Havana, berlin, hawaii, brasil
I search and I search again
My hope was running dry then finally one day
I saw a face I've seen before
You smiled at me but said
I really care, I do
But in love and married to another man