

On the Other Side

Jay-Jay Johanson

I should have walked out slowly I ran as fast I could With hungry dogs behind me Sirens in the neighbourhood

I don't know how to pronounce it I can't even spell it right But it all became much tougher When I fell asleep that night

When we meet on the other side Will you recognize me then Can we take up from our last goodbye Or back from start again

You always woke me up so early Now I stay too long in bed Guess I just can't find a reason Why I should get up instead

When we meet on the other side Will you recognize me then Can we take up from our last goodbye Or back from start again

I guess can remember Every nightmare that I've had But my only consolation Is to go to sleep again

When we meet on the other side Will you recognize me then Can we take up from our last goodbye Or back from start again

Or back from start Again
