

Trauma

Jay-Jay Johanson

We're going through a tough period now Facing problems new to us
Growing stronger dealing with the past Nothing to be frightened of

On the border line of silence Trauma setting in And the loneliness is killing me
So you got to accept my apology

Every struggle will unveil ourself No one's gonna mourn alone And we managed through a troubled sleep
On the road to the unknown

On the border line of silence Trauma setting in And the loneliness is killing me
So you got to accept my apology 'Cause the loneliness is killing me It'll all become a catastrophe

On the border line of silence Trauma setting in And the loneliness is killing me
So you got to accept my apology

Difficult enough to tell the truth I seek shelter on your side
Never knowing if misunderstood Desperation is our guide