

Say Something

Jay Sean

First time back on the westside, something's different
The vibe's on for these purple lights make me feel things I
Usually don't, make me do things I usually won't
I'm on one, and it's two AM, babe, just in time

I don't wanna lose control
Couple drinks in, can't hit that roll
Then she don't drive stakes, so we goin' real slow
I don't really know where this will go

So, won't you say something, say something, say something?
Don't just keep on sayin' nothing, say something now
So, won't you say something, say something?
I'm not the only one wanting something
Say something, say something now
Say something

Say somethin' before I fall in love
This is where I live, guess we pullin' over
Turn right at the sign, parkin' in my spot
Head up to the roof, look up at the stars
Now we way above it, god went too high and I love it
I cannot do this in public
Please do not hit me with judgements, judges

I don't wanna lose control
Early in the morning, wanna hit that roll
You want me to stop you while you goin' real slow
I don't really know where this will go

So, why am I say something, say something, say something?
Don't just keep on sayin' nothing, say something now
So, won't you say something, say something?
I'm not the only one wanting something
Say something, say something now
Say something

I cannot read minds; will I see you at another time?
Will I see you at another time? What have we started?

So, won't you say something, say something, say something?
Don't just keep on sayin' nothing, say something now
So, won't you say something, say something?
I'm not the only one wanting something
Say something, say something now
Say something
