

Tunnel Vision

Jay Som

You were clean
You were calm
Standing in the doorway
Singing afterthoughts
You count your blessings in the dark
Expelling words above you
To keep when we wake up

I press the hand upon my chest
Distorting into one
Returning back to Earth

A love enormous and enough
Pacing to ignore
How it begins and how it ends