

Love Me Tonight

Jay Webb

Lay here and love me tonight
Put all your worries aside
I needed this, and you're more than enough
Only a kiss, but I'm calling your bluff
This ain't that "once in a while"
This is that "worth every mile"
Every heartbreak you've ever been through
Those are the pieces that led me to you

So let's dance like no one's watching
Let your dress fall to the floor
Every inch I kiss, your soft skin
It just leaves me wanting more
When I hold you, only whisper
See the passion in your eyes
Won't you stay here in this moment
Darling, till the end of time

So lay here and love me tonight, whoa
Just lay here and love me tonight, whoa

Let's knock the pictures right off of the walls
Wake up the neighbors and laugh when they call
Put on that movie we won't watch at all
I'd rather watch you while you take it all off
Sleep on the couch, never make it to bed
Heart beating out with your head on my chest
I know that some things are better unsaid
But "I love you"'s right on my breath

So let's dance like no one's watching
Let your dress fall to the floor
Every inch I kiss, your soft skin
It just leaves me wanting more
When I hold you, only whisper
See the passion in your eyes
Won't you stay here in this moment
Darling, till the end of time

So lay here and love me tonight, whoa
Just lay here and love me tonight, whoa

So let's dance like no one's watching
Let your dress fall to the floor
Every inch I kiss, your soft skin
It just leaves me wanting more
When I hold you, only whisper
See the passion in your eyes
Won't you stay here in this moment
Darling, till the end of time

So lay here and love me tonight, whoa
Just lay here and love me tonight, whoa
