

Nothing But The Burn

Jay Webb

I can see the damage I did in your eyes
And damn, I wish you would've drawn that line
I guess I pushed you to the limit this time
Ain't no wiping up the tears you cried
I hope you never find another like me
Only holds you down sets fire to your wings
I light a cigarette to try to find peace
With every smoke that I breathe

Imma let it burn like whiskey, fade your memory
Hell, I might as well let the devil ride with me
Burning down this street, nicotine hits me
Killing myself tryna bury our history
It ain't the flame that hurts
That bottle made it worse
Now all that's left of her
Is nothing but the burn
Nothing but the burn

I took that bottle back to where everything began
I let that liquor take control of me again
How can I ease the pain if I can't even stand?
No point in holding on if this is where it ends
I got a hopeless reflection I'm facing
Every sip I'm taking

Imma let it burn like whiskey, fade your memory
Hell, I might as well let the devil ride with me
Burning down this street, nicotine hits me
Killing myself tryna bury our history
It ain't the flame that hurts
That bottle made it worse
Now all that's left of her
Is nothing but the burn
Nothing but the burn

I hope you never find another like me
Only holds you down sets fire to your wings

Imma let it burn like whiskey, fade your memory
Hell, I might as well let the devil ride with me
Burning down this street, nicotine hits me
Killing myself tryna bury our history
It ain't the flame that hurts
That bottle made it worse
Now all that's left of her
Is nothing but the burn
Nothing but the burn
Nothing but the burn
