

You're A Liar

Jaya

Here we are
Sitting alone in the dark
You've come home late again
And I wait for the lies that you spin
You say you're swamped with work
Oh, don't you know how it hurts?
You ask why I have doubts
And why I won't hear you out
When all I do is hear you out
Oh darlin'

You are a liar
But oh, how I need you
You are a liar
But oh, how I love you
How I love you
Though you're a liar, still a liar, and you'll never change
I need you
And I don't know why I hope cause I know
You are a liar
You are a liar

Years ago
You stood on an altar and chose
Me to be
The girl you'd want your mom to meet
Life was so pure back then
Now we've filled heaven with sin
You say you still love me now
And I want to believe you somehow
Though I know another heart you have found
Oh darlin'

You are a liar
But oh, how I need you
You are a liar
But oh, how I love you
How I love you
Though you're a liar, still a liar, and you'll never change
I need you
And I don't know why I hope cause I know
You are a liar

And I don't know how this ends
Will we go on as lovers or part as friends?
Will I know how to breathe you out?
Or should I just keep living in doubt?
When oh darlin'

You are a liar
But oh, how I need you
You are a liar
But oh, how I love you
How I love you
Though you're a liar, still a liar, and you'll never change
I need you
And I don't know why I hope cause I know

You are a liar...