

The Group

Jayden Bartels

A little while ago I got wrapped into something I didn't even know
A group of friends and I thought what could go wrong with them
So I joined and they were nice, they welcomed me into their troop
And they called themselves the group
But after a month or so things started to unroll
The drama, the lies, the fights and now I know what it's really like inside

And if you were to ask them, what really happens in the group
They'd say, two three four

There's lies and there's rumors discovered by humor
You're all of our mistakes or just jokes made
And you can't trust, any of us
Cause we'll turn around and show you that we're fake
There's jealousy in all of our eyes, yeah
We're jealous of your hair, clothes, face, and even your lives
Now you know what's really the truth
Do you want to join the group
Woah, the group

But the worst part of it is fitting into the click
You have to act a certain way if you want them to let you play
And if you're not looking like barbie then you can not join the party
Don't forget to always be smiling no one likes a girl that's crying

And if you were to ask them, what really happens in the group
They'd say, two three four

There's lies and there's rumors discovered by humor
You're all of our mistakes or just jokes made
And you can't trust, any of us
Cause we'll turn around and show you that we're fake
There's jealousy in all of our eyes, yeah
We're jealous of your hair, clothes, face, and even your lives
Now you know what's really the truth
Do you want to join the group
Woah, the group

Don't get trapped in their web of lies
There all bad guys in disguise
Now you know what it's like inside so hide

There's lies and there's rumors discovered by humor
You're all of our mistakes or just jokes made
And you can't trust, any of us
Cause we'll turn around and show you that we're fake
There's jealousy in all of our eyes, yeah
We're jealous of your hair, clothes, face, and even your lives
Now you know what's really the truth
Do you want to join the group
Woah, the group
