

You, Not Him

Jayden Bartels

I've made mistakes but the biggest one
Was not realizing what we could've become
And I know you think that I'm happier with him
But I am more upset than I have ever been
'Cause I pushed you away, but I was wrong
'Cause you were meant to be with me all along

I thought I'd found someone new
Someone better than you, but now...

I'm so sorry I ever pushed you away from me
I want you, not him, and I know this is happening all of a sudden
But can't you see I need you to be with me
Yeah, in the end, I want you, not him

And I bet you are so confused
'Cause I moved on with someone new
But if I'm bein' honest, I've realized some things since I've been with him
You treated me better than I have ever been treated
But I still made you grow out
Did I not know that...

I don't need someone new
All I need is you (oh, oh)

I'm so sorry I ever pushed you away from me
I want you, not him, and I know this is happening all of a sudden
But can't you see I need you to be with me
Yeah, in the end, I want you, not him

You're all I want, but how will I win you back after what I've done
But maybe this song will show you I'm admitting what I did was all wrong
And we both know what the truth is
In the end, I want you, not him

I'm so sorry I ever pushed you away from me (me)
I want you, not him, and I know this is happening all of a sudden (all of a sudden)
But can't you see I need you to be with me (you to be with me)
Yeah, in the end, I want you, not him
Yeah, in the end, I want you
