

The Dam

JC Stewart

Here I'll stand for the one's who've made me bleed
Here I'll stay for the one's who we've buried
And here I'll fall for the one's who've shed the grind
And oh my soul, so finally defined

See I'm the one who won't give up on you
And I'm the one who reach beyond the truth
When the blindfold's off and there's nothing left to see
But oh my soul, shall be released

Woah, woah, woah
Oh my love, the dam is breaking
And over us the waves come crashing
And I won't sway, no, I won't let you drown
So let your tears fall down

Here we are, scared to open up
Well it's hard to start when we don't know how to stop
'Cause there's an ocean in every single tear
Oh my soul, I'll meet you here

Woah, woah, woah
Oh my love, the dam is breaking
And over us the waves come crashing
And I won't sway, no, I won't let you drown
So let your tears fall down

See the waves, start with me
As we sink beneath our cleave
Aching for the air to breath
No more words, they only bleed
Burning eyes, we try to find
What we want, what we'll can see
We learn to swim, we learn to fight
We struggle on and then we fall

Oh my love, the dam is breaking
And over us 'cause the waves come crashing
And I won't sway, no, I won't let you drown
Woah, woah
Oh my love, the dam is breaking
And over us the waves come crashing
And I won't sway, no, I won't let you drown
So let your tears fall down