

Superhero

Jed Madela

I think I could be the man of steel
But too shy to wear undies outside my tights
If I could be a superhero
I wonder which I'd be

What if I could be like Spiderman
Spinning webs, climbing walls, and saving men
If I could be a superhero
I wonder which I'd be

If there were bags of magic dust for sale
I would be the first to order it by mail
I'd cross the sea myself by sail
I'd lay my hands for a broken rail

I know there is more to just being me
I know deep inside there is more to me
Cause I'm more than a superhero
More than a superhero

I know I am more than this skin or hair
More than the biceps more than the power stare
I could strongly feel my purpose in my life
I am super not just a hero in me

I don't care if other people say
That I'm just obsessed with make-believe
I just want to make a difference
While I got the strength to live

It's just not enough to sit down and let things be
'Coz I can start the change that I want to see
I'm more than just the typical hero
From the realm of the mystical or supernatural

I know there is more to just being me
I know deep inside there is more to me
Cause I'm more than a superhero
More than a superhero

I know I am more than this skin or hair
More than the biceps more than the power stare
I could strongly feel my purpose in my life
I am super not just a hero in me

If there were bags of magic dust for sale
I would be the first to order it by mail
I'd cross the sea myself by sail
I'd lay my hands for a broken rail

I know there is more to just being me
I know deep inside there is more to me
Cause I'm more than a superhero
More than a superhero

I know I am more than this skin or hair
More than the biceps more than the power stare

I could strongly feel my purpose in my life
I am super not just a hero

I know there is more to just being me
I know deep inside there is more to me
Cause I'm more than a superhero
More than a superhero

I know I am more than this skin or hair
More than the biceps more than the power stare
I could strongly feel my purpose in my life
I am super not just a hero in me
