Heaven Sent

Jeff Bernat

See I know I could be busy
And they're times I can't distract, that's all
I forget the part, I forget the chapter
But I promise I don't forget you
I know you've had a past, that were 2
God gave me your precious heart
And I'm far away from being perfect
But I'll heal all your battle scars and be your armor
Cause, darlin', I swear that you're worth it
God gave me your precious heart
And I'm far away from being perfect
But I'll heal all your battle scars and be your armor
Cause, bein' your man is so worth it
See I know we still got time, we still got time
And they're times you have a guard or 2
Please don't be scared
But believe me, girl, I ain't the type of man
That will break your heart
Like some other fools did it young
Momma taught me to respect the ladies
Cause it's something a man should do
So I've always been a patient boy
Never been the type to pressure you
God gave me your precious heart
And I'm far away from being perfect
But I'll heal all your battle scars and be your armor
Cause, darlin', I swear that you're worth it
I will protect her and always hold her close to me
Even through the trials that may lie ahead
I will love her unconditionally
God gave me your precious heart
And I'm far away from being perfect
But I'll heal all your battle scars and be your armor
Cause, darlin', I swear that you're worth it
God gave me your precious heart
And I'm far away from being perfect
But I'll heal all your battle scars and be your armor
Cause bein' your man is so worth it
God gave me your precious heart
And I'm far away from being perfect
But I'll heal all your battle scars and be your armor
Cause, darlin', I swear that you're worth it
