

Island

Jeff Black

when you need to find a cure and your remedies are failing and you'd like to say for sure but your confidence is fading you're about to give it up and you know it won't get better and you need a little love I will promise you forever when your burden's heavy I will be your strength when your well is running dry I will be your rain and when you need a shoulder I will be your friend when your spirit's drowning I will be your island for every sea of tears you know they say there is a reason but it's hard to see the good when you're in the water freezing the ocean rises up and the waves crash all around you just remember there's a place you can leave the storm behind you